

Happy National Volunteer Week!

Even though we are not working in the theaters at this time, I've never felt more appreciative of all our RedCoat volunteers. The incredible work each of you do at performances to ensure our guests feel welcomed and are ushered in and out of the building safely is part of what makes Playhouse Square such a special place to visit.

When I first came here, I sent out a survey to ask why you all chose to volunteer. There were many great answers, however, the one that was brought up most was community, both your personal community and our community as a whole. I am so thankful for you all during this time because I see your care for our Cleveland community and I am in awe of the community you all build together.

Thank you for being part of the RedCoat family! ~ Gina

Andy at Antigone

RedCoat and new House Manager, Andy Flynn, was missing you all this past week. He loved your posts in your red blazers last week and sent one of his

It inspired me to don mine while participating in the Inside CPH virtual Behind Scenes for Antigone on Zoom earlier today. I was really looking forward to ushering for Antigone, so it was great to represent the RedCoats while participating in the Zoom.

A Chorus Line – From Far Apart

As Broadway goes dark during the coronavirus pandemic, dancers have not let their passion go without an outlet.

<https://www.cbsnews.com/video/sunday-morning-matinee-a-chorus-line-in-quarantine/>

Broadway Star Recovers from COVID

A small piece of happy news, Broadway star, Brian Stokes Mitchell sang to healthcare workers from his window following recovering from COVID earlier this week.

<https://www.nydailynews.com/coronavirus/ny-coronavirus-brian-stokes-mitchell-impossible-dream-20200413-mhwn72drrhabiipzcgpactr2a-story.html>