Special Sensory-Friendly Matinee

A Social Story for Brown Bear, Brown Bear & Other Treasured Stories by Eric Carle at Playhouse Square.

children's Theater series
Presented by University Hospitals
Rainbow Babies & Children's Hospital

Playhouse Square®

CUYAHOGA COUNTY Board of Developmental Disabilities

For more information, visit playhousesquare.org/sensory-friendly

Hi! I'm Arthur.

And I'm Zeke.

We love visiting Playhouse Square!

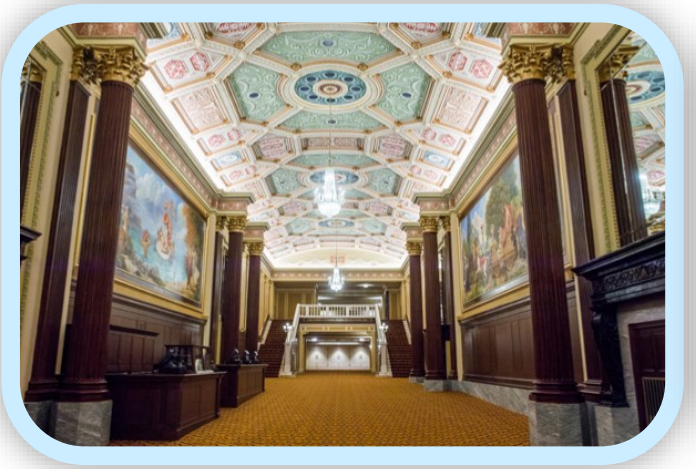
There will be lots of people there. We feel safe and comfortable. We know "keep your hands to yourself!"

We might walk outside on our way to the play.

We might walk down a busy hallway on our way to the play.

We might park our car in the garage.

We might walk down an elevated hallway on our way inside.



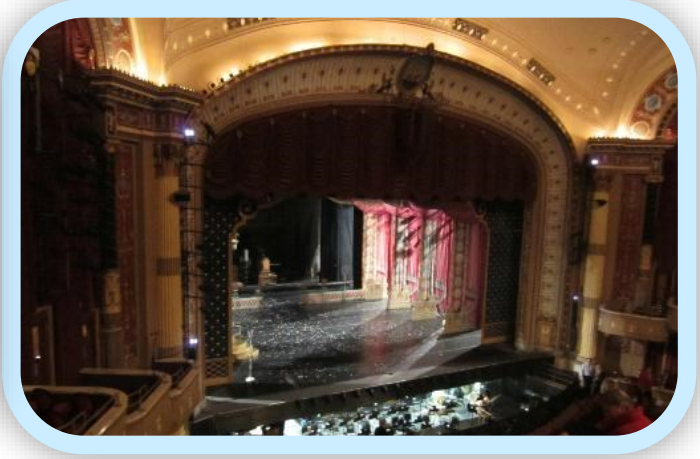
We will walk through the Ohio Theatre lobby.

We know not to worry. Our friends in red will take our ticket and help us find what we need.

Sometimes we like to squeeze toys to make ourselves feel better. Our friends in red can supply these.

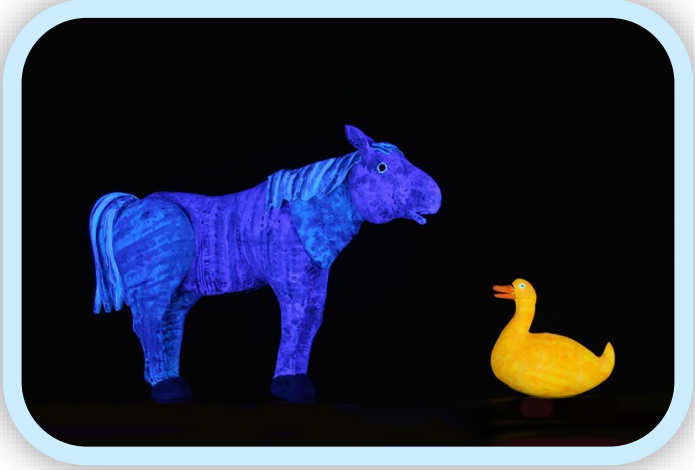
Sometimes we need ear-muffs if we don't like loud noises. Our friends in red can supply these, too.

During the show we will sit with family and friends. There may be some people we don't know sitting close to us.



On stage, the actors do many things. Some act. Some sing. Some dance.

We will even see puppets on stage that look like a story book!



They will tell us the story of Brown Bear, the Very Hungry Caterpillar, and all their friends!

We will see many different animals, like a frog, cat, bear, and duck.

We will also meet a young girl who loves to look at the moon. They will tell us a beautiful story.

We'll have so much fun at Brown Bear, Brown Bear & Other Treasured Stories by Eric Carle!